The Battle Plan for 2010

Once again we start off the year with our fearless leader briefing us on the latest and greatest as it relates to our war gaming schedule. The year is packed full of battles from various time periods and zombies thrown in for good measure.

The past year has been excellent for the GAG. We were even featured in a war gaming magazine across the pond (England). The famed Stalingrad Game received notoriety from our English counterparts and was featured as a lead story. Bill has the details so see him if you want more info.

Looking at the past year, we have accomplished some great things a club. We were able to field a large game at Fall In. This required us to endure play testing and for some, manufacturing the wonderful buildings of Stalingrad (Great work Jack)!

As we look forward to the new year we must keep in mind that we are beer and pretzel based and that remains our calling as we enter the various battlefields we fight on. We must also not lose sight of the FUN. That is what this is all about. Win or lose, good troops or bad, we are here for the fun and friendship brought by our common interest, war gaming. One important note, Woody will be setting something up with Bill so we can tour the action at the Bliss-farm once the weather breaks and providing us a detailed account of the action there. This should prove to be very informative and something you do not want to miss. As always, stay safe and happy gaming.

Cold Wars 2010 and GAG

As Cold Wars is fast approaching several games have been sponsored by the GAG. As always, Bill has stepped up to the plate to deliver some excellent French and Indian action. Also, keeping with the theme of the convention, Bob has added several Napoleonic games which will catch the eye of the endearing crowd. The PEL (Preliminary Events List) has the details as of this date, so be sure to check it out and stop by to lend a hand or play a game.
